DETAILED ACTION

1. Claims 1-21 as originally filed are pending in the instant application. Of these, there are 3 independent claims and 18 dependent claims.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

3. Claim 2 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. The term "substantially" in claim 2 is a relative term which renders the claim indefinite. The term "substantially static random access memory" is not defined by the claim, the specification does not provide a standard for ascertaining the requisite degree, and one of ordinary skill in the art would not be reasonably apprised of the scope of the invention.
4. Claim 21 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. Claim 21 recites 35 USC 112 sixth paragraph "means for" language. The examiner is unable to determine what disclosed structure provides the corresponding means for performing the recited function for the following claim limitations: "a means for constructing a plurality of keys", "a means for determining if a system is in a shared mode", "a means for sharing a plurality of hash functions", "a means for hard configuring the hash functions for the entry of the memory bank”, and “a means for determining a precedence from among the one or more match indications”.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 101

5. 35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:

Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefor, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.

6. Claims 18-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the claimed invention is directed to non-statutory subject matter. Claim 18 appears to be directed to the abstract algorithm of searching a table, and does not provide a useful, concrete, and tangible result of said search. As such, claim 18 is not limited to statutory subject matter. Claims 19 and 20 do not remedy the deficiency of claim 18, and are rejected on the same grounds as claim 18.

Allowable Subject Matter

7. Claims 1 and 3-17 are allowed over the prior art.

8. Claim 1 recites the limitation “a plurality of hash function blocks, wherein each hash function block is configured to receive at least two of the masked keys and to provide at least three hash function outputs”. This limitation is taught by the specification at paragraph 0020 lines 5-9. This limitation in combination with the other limitations of claim 1 is not taught or suggested by the prior art of record.

9. Claims 3-17 depend from claim 1, and are considered allowable for at least the same reasons as claim 1.

Conclusion

10. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

- a. Cheriton (US 7,002,965) teaches masking data extracted from a packet to generating a key to be hashed to perform a table lookup, column 6 line 43 to column 7 line 21, but does not teach or suggest "a plurality of hash function blocks, wherein each hash function block is configured to receive at least two of the masked keys and to provide at least three hash function outputs" as recited by claim 1.
- b. Colliff et al. (US 5,530,834) teaches using multiple hash function blocks to address multiple locations in multiple memory banks, column 3 lines 25-49, but does not teach or suggest "a plurality of hash function blocks, wherein each hash function block is configured to receive at least two of the masked keys and to provide at least three hash function outputs" as recited by claim 1.
- c. Hunter et al. (US 6,223,172) teaches the use of a CRC function to hash a masked key search key for use in a longest match search, but does not teach or suggest "a plurality of hash function blocks, wherein each hash function block is configured to receive at least two of the masked keys and to provide at least three hash function outputs" as recited by claim 1.
